Improvisation

3-8 players / 20-30 minutes / Optional skill cards

The same music can conjure a different picture for everyone. The Audience chooses an illustration; the Improviser must play a randomly assigned card and convince the others that it was a choice.

Components

Illustrations	65 cards; each player holds 5.
Secret roles	12 cards: 7 Audience cards and 5 Improviser cards, numbered 1-5.
Theatre map	1 map with a 12-step main path and two optional detours.
Bring your own	One distinct small object per player as a pawn; one device to play music.
Optional skills	6 cards, one of each effect. You can play without them.

Setup

1. Place the map in the middle of the table. Put all pawns on the starting platform marked with a treble clef.
2. Shuffle the illustration cards and deal 5 to each player. Keep hands hidden. Place the rest in a draw pile, with room for a discard pile.
3. Take one fewer Audience card than the number of players. Put unused Audience cards aside. Keep the five Improviser cards in a separate face-down pile.
4. If using skills, shuffle all 6 into a shared draw pile. Each player starts with no skills.

Listen together

Play one excerpt per round. Replay as needed.
Choose the next track only when the next round begins.

A round of play

01 Fix your hand. Deal secret roles.

Fix your five hand positions from left to right, 1-5. Without looking, draw one of the five shuffled Improviser cards. Shuffle it with the required Audience cards and deal one role to each player. Keep the other four Improviser cards hidden. The Improviser must play the indicated hand position, not the illustration ID. Do not reorder your hand after seeing your role.

02 Listen and commit.

Play a 10-15 second music excerpt. Each Audience member chooses one illustration; the Improviser uses the assigned card. Place your card face down in front of you to lock it in. You cannot change it.

03 Reveal the artwork. Replay the music.

Reveal all played illustrations together, keeping each in front of its player. Replay the same excerpt. If using skills, decide now whether to play one face down, before anyone speaks.

04 Explain and discuss.

Choose a starting speaker. In clockwise order, explain how your illustration connects to the music. Once everyone has spoken, discuss freely. There is no mandatory time limit.

05 Vote together. Reveal roles.

Count down and simultaneously point at one other player. You cannot point at yourself or change your vote. The Improviser also votes as cover. Once everyone has seen the votes, reveal roles and any skills played.

06 Resolve, move and refill.

Resolve base movement and skills, then move. Check for a winner after everyone finishes. If the game continues, discard the played illustrations and refill all hands to 5. Reshuffle illustration discards when needed. Collect all five Improviser cards and the required Audience cards for a fresh role draw next round.

Base movement

Audience: a correct vote earns 2 steps; a wrong vote earns 0.
Improviser: lose only if more than half of all Audience members vote for you. A loss earns 0 steps; otherwise, move 3. Exactly half means you win.

Players	3	4	5	6	7	8
Votes to defeat Improviser	2	2	3	3	4	4

In a 5-player game, 0-2 Audience votes let the Improviser win; 3-4 cause a loss. Every Audience member who voted correctly still moves 2 steps.

Follow the music

Each open wooden platform is one space. Moving across a bridge or staircase to the next platform costs 1 step; the connection itself is not a space. Move only towards the finish. Pawns never block one another and may share a platform.

The main path takes 12 steps. Each detour adds 1 step; taking both makes 14. Choose your route at each fork. Without skills, follow the main path.

Stop to collect a skill

End your movement on a platform with a record crate to secretly draw 1 skill from the shared pile. Passing through earns nothing. You may stop early and give up unused movement. Each player may claim each crate once per game. A newly collected skill can be used starting next round.

Reaching the finish

The finish is the platform marked with the final double barline. If anyone reaches it, let everyone finish resolving and moving this round. If only one player reaches it, that player wins. If several finish in the same round, compare only those players, in this order:

1. Most unused skill cards still held.
2. Most movement steps left over beyond the finish.
3. Still tied? Share the victory.

Without the skill expansion, everyone has zero unused skills; compare extra steps directly.

Six optional skills

After the artwork reveal and before anyone speaks, you may play 1 skill face down. It must match your role this round. Reveal and resolve it after voting, then discard it even if its condition was not met. New skills cannot be used in the round they are collected.

Spotlight / Improviser only

Move 1 extra step for each player who votes for you.

Add the bonus even if you lose this round.

Curtain / Improviser only

Unless every Audience member votes for you, move 3 steps this round.

This replaces your base movement. It is not 3 extra steps.

Hushed / Improviser only

If no one votes for you, move 3 extra steps.

No votes: 3 base steps + 3 extra steps = 6 steps.

Opera Glass / Audience only

If you correctly identify the Improviser, move 2 extra steps.

Correct vote: 2 base steps + 2 extra steps = 4 steps.

Mended Ticket / Audience only

Even if you vote incorrectly, move 2 steps this round.

Correct or incorrect: 2 base steps. This is not an extra 2 steps.

Quiet Seat / Audience only

If no one votes for you, move 2 extra steps.

With no votes against you: move 4 steps if correct, or 2 if wrong.

The Improviser's cover vote counts as a vote against its target, including for Quiet Seat. Only Audience votes determine whether the Improviser loses.

The skill deck has 6 cards, one of each effect. Reshuffle used skills when the draw pile runs out. If both piles are empty, no skill can be collected. Resolve same-round claims in speaking order.
